Q4 2023 PERFORMANCE REVIEW

The Northstar BCI Income fund outperformed the STeFI x110% benchmark by 2.1% over the last 12 months, with a return of 10.7% vs. 8.6%.

The 35% weighting to fixed bonds contributed 4.3%, with strong returns from the R2030, R2037, R2035, R213 and the R2032. The 35% average weighting to inflation-linked bonds was the next best contributor of 3.0%, with the most substantial gains from holdings in NI29, I2025, FRBI25, SBSI14, and I2029. In addition, floating rate notes and gold made meaningful contributions of 2.0% and 1.3%, respectively. The 1% exposure to listed property was the only detractor with minus 5bps. Cash and holdings in the Northstar Global Income fund made up the difference in contribution.

MARKET OUTLOOK AND PORTFOLIO POSITIONING

The economic growth outlook for South Africa in 2024 is expected to be stronger than in 2023, with a forecasted growth of 1.0% year-on-year, compared to 2023's likely 0.5%. This improvement is anticipated due to the start of a rate-cutting cycle, lower average inflation, and enhancements in infrastructure. Growth will be further boosted by efforts to reduce congestion at ports. However, challenges persist with the electricity supply, as it is not expected to consistently meet demand in 2024, with higher stages of load shedding likely to continue. This situation will likely improve in 2025 with additional capacity from private sector generation.

Globally, economic growth is projected to provide some support to South Africa's economy. The OECD anticipates only a mild slowdown in global growth in 2024 to 2.7% year-on-year, avoiding a recession and then increasing to 3.0% in 2025. For the United States, growth is forecasted at 1.5% in 2024, down from 2.4% in 2023, with an expected easing in monetary policy. Growth is projected to increase slightly to 1.7% in 2025. The euro area, impacted by Russia's war against Ukraine and energy price shocks, is expected to see growth of 0.6% in 2023, rising to 0.9% in 2024 and 1.5% in 2025. China's growth is predicted at 5.2% in 2023, decreasing to 4.7% in 2024 and 4.2% in 2025, influenced by challenges in the real estate sector and high household saving rates.

Financial markets showed increased risk appetite at the end of 2023, with strong rebounds in the Rand and SA assets, including the ALBI, ALSI, and SA Property. However, both have since faced some weakening due to market uncertainties going into 2024. Domestically, concerns about the coalition government (post-national elections) are dampening business confidence and growing geopolitical tensions, resulting in increased market volatility globally.

Overall, the Northstar Income Fund is positively poised with a higher-than-average duration, looking to benefit from a falling interest rate cycle. However, we remain vigilant to South Africa's prevailing risks and hold attractively valued global assets, including short-dated US Treasury bonds, high-yielding global equities, and gold.
